

7. A woman undergoing treatment for a tubo-ovarian abscess in cul-de-sac has persistent pain and fever after 48 hours of intravenous antibiotic treatment. The best management in the next 48 hours is: [200/00/99]
- Continuing antibiotic therapy only
 - Ultrasound guided drainage of the mass
 - Pelvic irrigation
 - Exploratory laparotomy
8. In leiomyosarcoma the prognosis for survival is most closely associated with which of the following? [212/00/99]
- Presence of coagulative necrosis
 - Mitotic index
 - Size of tumor at diagnosis
 - Depth of invasion
9. A postmenopausal woman's Pap cytology report is satisfactory but with endometrial cells present. The most appropriate management is: [213/00/99]
- Cervical conization
 - Endometrial biopsy in office
 - Endocervical curettage
 - Repeat pap cytology in 12 months
10. In an adolescent woman who has just become sexually active, when should Pap screening be initiated? [213/00/99]
- Immediately
 - At age 18
 - At age 21
 - Within three years
11. The most likely histology in a 50 year old woman diagnosed with ovarian carcinoma is: [211/00/99]
- Serous adenocarcinoma
 - Endometrioid adenocarcinoma
 - Mucinous adenocarcinoma
 - Clear cell carcinoma